Round 2: Switch to a new color by making a slip stitch in any space between the double crochets. Chain 2, then in the same space, create 3 treble crochets (tc). To form a petal, insert your crochet hook into the top of the first treble crochet, remove the hook, and pull the last treble crochet through the first loop. Chain 2 to complete the petal, and repeat this process for a total of 12 petals, separated by ch2 spaces.

Round 2 daisy

For those inquiring about the border addition to the daisy square, I've provided some illustrative photos below to guide you through the process.

Round 1: Attach a new color by making a slip stitch to any ch2 space. Chain 2 (this counts as your first double crochet), then work 2 double crochets, chain 1, and 3 more double crochets into the same corner space to create a corner.

In the next two spaces: Work 3 additional double crochets in each space.

Round 1 square

In the following space: Make 3 double crochets, chain 1, and 3 more double crochets to form the next corner.

Round 1 square

Continue around: Work 3 double crochets in each of the next two spaces, followed by a corner of 3 double crochets, chain 1, and 3 double crochets. Repeat this pattern until you return to the beginning chain-2 space. Complete the round by making a slip stitch into the top of the initial chain 2.

If you wish to proceed, move on to Round 2: Begin by slipping to the corner space and then create a chain-2. Next, work 2 double crochets, chain 1, and 3 more double crochets in the same corner space. Then, continue with 3 double crochets in each of the next 3 spaces, followed by 3 double crochets, chain 1, and 3 double crochets (repeat from * to *). Complete the round by joining with a slip stitch.

There you have it! I trust this explanation clarifies the process. Happy crocheting!
